

SMS Consumer Prospecting Database from MobileMailbox.com

Consumers Who Have Opted-In to Receive Special Offers
Via Their Mobile Device

110 mm Opt-In Cell Phone Users Call for Pricing

The SMS Consumer Prospecting Database from MobileMailbox.com delivers a nationwide file of over 110 million cell phone users who have opted in to receive special offers via their mobile devices.

Consumers have opted in via ring tone and game downloads, financial news site sign-ups, sports alert sign-ups, as well as from registration to sweepstakes and submission of product/warranty registration information.

Every record in the database has an associated postal address, making it an ideal resource for marketers seeking coverage in specific geographic areas. To optimize response rates, self-reported data has been added to the file, yielding selects such as gender, age, income level, and consumer interests. This will get your text messages delivered to the right consumer audience.

The SMS Consumer Prospecting Database from MobileMailbox.com facilitates a powerful method for direct and immediate communication with consumers. It is a turnkey platform for pushing special offers into the hands of perspective customers to illicit responses, including retail store traffic, responses to short codes, or the viewing of a WAP pages for additional interaction.

This is, indeed, the final frontier in direct response marketing for consumer marketers, reaching a responsive, technically adept audience with buying power.
